COMMITTEES HARD AT WORK

The Catholics of Louisville are beginning to appreciate what an Important event will be the eleventh nstionsl convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies which is to be held in Louisville August 18-21. Those connected with the federation several months age realized the magnitude of the work hefore them and urged early preparations for an event which will no doubt exceed in magnitude anything yet attempted by Catholies lying south of the Ohio. When it is known that the 600 delegates who will come to Loulaville represent mere than 3,000,000 Catholic men and women and that the most aminent prelates and most prominent laymen in the country will participate in the deliberations, ooth religious and clvic, the great mportance of the convention may be realized by those who are not participating in the exacting and shorious work of arranging for the event. The heads of the various committees and their assistants have work to do every day, although meetings are not beld by the general committees more than twice a month unless the occasion nrises for special meetings. Reports from other cities indicate that there will 50,000 viaitors in Louisville during the week of the convention, and to properly care for these will be a task which will equire energy from now until the poning of the meeting. Enthuainsm narks the work of nearly all of the ommitteemen, seme of courso heing more energetic than others on account of the experience they have and in previous affairs of this kind. CANDIDATES FOR NOMINATION

The Democratic State Executive Commitiee will meet hère this evenng and decide the time and place of holding the State Democratic convention, which will select the delegates to the national convention which wlii convene in Baltimore in June, and also discusa the advis-sbillty of petitioning Gov. McCreary o call an extra session of the Legis lature as suggested by Senator-elect Oilie James to add the Presidential ontest hy amendment to the present primary law. This primary was or-iginnily suggested by the Woodrow Wilson people in Kentucky more as a hluff to the Champ Clark foilow-ing than anything else, but their bluff has been called by Senator-elect James, who states that he is onfident that Cinrk can defeat Wilson in a primary, convention or any other method of choice, and would prefer a primary to make this more convincing. The Clark boom la gaining ground every day, as well posted politicians declare that the democrats would certainly err in naming Gov. The situation in Kentucky from a Republican standpoint has narrowed down to a Bradley and anti-Bradley and the Roosevelt and Taft argument being a secondary considera-lon, as the fight is now as to who hnii control the Republican party in of the Ancient Order, to whom she kentucky, and thus far Senator extended most hearty welcome.
